Remote Offices

BeamPines, Inc. New York

As a nationally recognized human resources consulting firm, BeamPines, Inc provides comprehensive talent management services to help organizations attract, retain, and continuously develop the best people.

“I would say Intranets.com has become an invaluable tool for us,” says Natalie Cumberbatch, BeamPines Manager of Information Services. “We use Intranets.com every day for coordinating the schedules of our team of consultants and scheduling their use of a corporate resource that is key to our business: Our New York-based video conferencing facility.”

“Intranets.com helps us keep on top of where everyone is and what their needs are. We have 12 people based in our New York office. We also have offices in Philadelphia, Connecticut and Florida and, in addition, many remote consultants, who may come into the New York office from time to time. All of these people use the video conferencing facility here for meetings with clients nationwide, for coaching clients remotely -- for so many client-related uses. So, scheduling our video conferencing facility with Intranets.com -- where everyone can see instantly when the facility is in use and when it's not -- is definitely critical.”

“Our sister company, The Beam Group, an executive search firm with offices in New York, Philadelphia and Hartford, CT, also uses the video conferencing facility for interviewing job candidates here for clients on the West Coast. Using Intranets.com to schedule the use of this busy facility really helps us manage the flow of our business.”

“We also use Intranets.com’s announcement function all the time. The announcements are right on the home page of our intranet site, so everyone is sure to see them as soon as they log in. With so many offices, it’s a really valuable tool for announcing events, marketing meetings, and offsite meetings. If there are projects going on, and there’s a meeting for that specific project, we send out an announcement.”

“We’ve been using Intranets.com for several years. I’ve used customer service only once and they were very helpful, but again Intranets.com is so easy to use. The site is pretty self-explanatory, which is also a benefit for me, from an administrative point of view.”

“Intranets.com helps us keep on top of where everyone is and what their needs are.”
