Modern Plastics, Inc. Bridgeport, CT

Modern Plastics, Inc., headquartered in Bridgeport, CT, is a 60-year-old, family-owned, ISO-Certified, plastics distribution company with more than 100 employees and multiple locations in New England.

“We distribute our products on a national and international basis,” says Bing J. Carbone, President. “We also have many people that work for us in other parts of the country, and the world, in fact (Australia, India, Pakistan, Ireland, etc.). I was looking to have some sort of custom software written for a private company intranet.”

“We needed an effective tool to keep all of our staff - from the people out on the shop floors, to the salespeople on the road, all the way to the CEO and President - “on the same page.”

“I was overjoyed when I discovered Intranets.com, as it had an immediate impact on our internal communications and company operations. Intranets.com made us a better company, a more effective company, and I’m convinced it has had a positive impact on our company’s bottom line, because of its incredible flexibility, individual customization, and real-value functionality. As President of Modern Plastics, I can know exactly what is happening at my company no matter where I am, no matter what time of day.”

“We recently had a major customer that we sell medical grade plastics to - Johnson & Johnson -- visit Modern Plastics. The Senior Buyer of this company walked into our Quality Control Director’s office and was drop-jaw impressed that we had every one of their company’s plastic specifications, internal order shipping specifications, and plastic material certifications, along with every Modern Plastics’ inspection document for each one of their shipments ‘ON-LINE’ at our own company intranet site (Intranets.com).”

“Selective Modern Plastics employees who needed to have access to those documents were able to do so, while their security was guarded from everyone else. Sure, we have the paper backup copies, but to have those documents in a digitized form and on-line, well, let’s just say that showing that kind of care and detail with our own Modern Plastics Intranets.com site to any sort of customer, is one impressive tool and a leg up on your competitors.”

“Truthfully, there’s no going back. Modern Plastics is an Intranets.com customer forever.”
